CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER

GENERAL CROOK.

The fact that the Apache scouts, employed by General Crook, are treacherous and do everything in their power to assist the renegades is well known and has been commented upon time and again in the newspapers of this section. Fresh evidence of the truth of these assertions is found in an interview with three prominent citizens of New Mexico, which is published in the San Francisco Call. These gentlemen, referring to the occasion of the attack on Lieutenant Fountain's command, when Dr. Maddox and four soldiers were killed, say: When nearing a narrow canon on Dry Creek the scouts rode on a couple of hundred yards in advance. The scouts passed through the worst part of the canon all right, but as the soldiers entered in a volley was poured into them from both sides of the creek bed, and, becoming panic-stricken, the command dashed down the canon in confusion. Dr. Maddox, of Fort Bayard, who was riding beside Lieutenant Fountain, was mortally wounded, and four privates were killed. As soon as the firing began, instead of turning to aid the soldiers, the scouts threw themselves from their saddles, and waiting by the side of the road, let the routed troops dash by them, on down the creek. From his position in the brush, Burke saw some of the scouts hold a consultation with some of the hostiles who appeared, and also saw one scout give the ambushers a hat full of cartridges.

It is impossible that General Crook should be unaware of the damning fact of his scouts' treachery, confirmation of which occurs almost daily. Why, in the face of such indisputable evidence, he should continue to employ these friends and relatives of the renegades, to throw obstacles in the way of his troops and betray them to the enemy, is more than any ordinary mind can fathom. His action in this respect alone should be sufficient to ensure his removal. Yet, in the face of this, the Star gravely asserts that the announcement of Crook's removal has "created both surprise and disappointment among our people" and that Crook is just on the point of ending the campaign. He has been just on the point of ending it for eight months, and is apparently not any nearer the result than he was last May.

Our people are thoroughly weary of this bloody farce and hail with delight the prospect of a change of any description, feeling thoroughly assured that it cannot possibly be for the worse.

If Arizona had a vote on national affairs, the Indian question would have been settled long ago.

The assessment on the stock of the Peerless Mining Company has been rescinded. Now you see it, and now you don't!

As will be seen in another column, the City Council has succeeded in effecting a satisfactory arrangement of the bond question.

SILVER is quoted somewhat firmer on the London market. The fears of adverse action by Congress appear to be diminishing across the water.

SOME ill-natured persons assert that, if the Apaches were to attack Tucson, the inhabitants of that peaceful pueblo would at once rush to the city hall and pass resolutions.

THE Chinese don't seem to be going, to any very alarming extent. A Chinese syndicate recently offered two million dollars for the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, and were prepared to pay five millions.

PERHAPS, after all, Pixley was right and the whites have no right to live in Arizona. It really begins to look that way, sometimes. The Government might, however, at least furnish us with a decent reservation somewhere.

THE territory has been subjected to an unusually cold spell. Tucson has had quite an ice crop; at Phoenix the thermometer has been fifteen degrees below freezing and here at Tombstone we have had the coldest spell in the recollection of the "oldest inhabitant."

THE importance of the mining interests has hitherto so overshadowed all others, in Cochise county, that outsiders—and even residents of the county—are apt sometimes to forget that we have one of the finest stock-raising sections on the continent. Cochise has more than one string to her bow.

Bills to Provide Volunteers for Arizona.

The San Francisco Dynamiters Found Guilty.

Gladstone May Visit the United States this Fall.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.]

Volunteers for Arizona.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Laird of Nebraska has introduced a joint resolution in the House authorizing the President to call out two volunteer regiments of cavalry in New Mexico and Arizona, to be enlisted and officered from citizens of such territories for the suppression of Indian hostilities therein.

Prospects of Home Rule.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Liberal opinion is still greatly divided on the home rule question. In fact, opinion in general in England is a complete hodge-podge, which may play into the Tories' hands and possibly even compel Mr. Gladstone to draw in his horns. The chief Liberal press agency, which sends London correspondence and editorial matter to the provincial Liberal press, has received requests from many quarters to modify its direct advocacy of Gladstone's home rule scheme. It is said that the public declarations of hostility to Gladstone's Irish Parliament scheme, coming from such tried and loyal supporters as Trevelyan and other Liberal leaders who have always hitherto proved staunch allies, have greatly surprised Mr. Gladstone. He was prepared for the desertion of such men as the Duke of Argyll and Goschen, who repeatedly kicked over the party traces, and even of Hartington, Harcourt, Cowper, Derby and Forster, whose interests and connections, or personal prejudices, tie them to the unpopular side. Gladstone's hold with the rank and file of the advanced wing has not been lessened by these defections, but strengthened.

Public Park for Arizona.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Senator Harrison has introduced a bill to set apart a certain tract of land near the junction of the Little Colorado with the Colorado rivers of the west in Arizona, as a public park.

House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—There were 882 bills introduced in the House to-day. The Speaker did not make the announcement of committees. It is his intention to complete the call of States before naming the committees. The call of States was not completed to-day. Two States and Territories remain to be called.

The Rangers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Delegate Joseph of New Mexico, will introduce in the House to-morrow a bill to provide for the organization of a regiment of volunteers in New Mexico and Arizona, for the purpose of suppressing outrages on settlers committed by hostile Indians. Each company shall be composed of 30 native Mexicans, 10 Americans and 10 Pueblo Indians. They shall each be furnished two native horses and armed with suitable weapons. Each private shall receive $50 per month, and the officers paid as in the regular army. The pension laws now in force shall apply to all. For the purpose of carrying this act into effect the sum of $500,000 is appropriated, to be available immediately.

Dynamiters Convicted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—The dynamiters, who were arrested December 15th, were to-day found guilty of storing gun powder contrary to the city ordinance. The jury was out one hour and twenty minutes, and recommended mercy. Sentence will be passed to-morrow.

Bound to Be Mrs. Somebody.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—It is announced to-night that Miss Hill (nee Sharon) will be married at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, at Stockton, to David S. Terry, ex-Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of California.

Nervous Kelly.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—John Kelly, of New York, is troubled with insomnia and nervous prostration. He will have to quit politics.

Gladstone May Come.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—An effort is being made to induce Gladstone to visit the United States. He may come in the autumn.

Cruelty to Animals.

Some people object entirely to experiments upon animals. They do this chiefly on two grounds. The first is that such experiments are useless, and the second that, even if they were useful, we have no right to inflict pain upon animals. The first objection is due to ignorance. Almost all our exact knowledge of the action of drugs on the various organs of the body, as well as the physiological functions of these organs themselves, has been obtained by experiments on animals. Their second objection is one which, if pushed to its utmost limits and steadily carried out, would soon drive man off the face of the earth. The struggle for existence is constantly going on, not only between man and man, but between man, the lower animals, and plants, and man's very being depends upon his success. We kill animals for food. We destroy them when they are dangerous, like the tiger or cobra, or destructive, like the rat or mouse. We oblige them to work for us for no reward but their food, and we urge them on by whip and spur when they are unwilling or flag. No one would think of blaming the messenger who should apply whip and spur to bring a relieve, and thus save the life of a human being about to die on the scaffold, even although his horse should die under him at the end of the journey. Humanely people will give an extra shilling to a cabman in order that they may catch the train which will take them to soothe the dying moments of a friend, without regarding the consequences to the suffering which the horse has to endure in either of the case just mentioned were to be inflicted by a physiologist in order to obtain the knowledge which would help to relieve the suffering and lengthen the life, not of one human being only but of thousands, many persons would exclaim against him. Such objections as these are due either to want of knowledge or want of thought on the part of people who make them. They either do not know the benefits which medicine derives from experiment, or they thoughtlessly, (sometimes, perhaps, willfully,) ignore the evidence regarding the utility of experiment.—Branton's Pharmacology.

Kate Vaughan's Dancing.

The whole of young London is now repairing to Her Majesty's Theatre to see Miss Kate Vaughan dance in the Italian ballet, "Excelsior." What a wonderful thing is individual attraction! This self-same ballet has been running now for many months. Two Italian dancers of the first excellence have exerted themselves with praiseworthy enthusiasm night after night, and performed heroic acts of endurance, but the public have never shown any marked and strong delight in an excellent entertainment until an English artist and dancer floats on from the wings and tantalizes her admirers with scarcely five minutes of the poetry of motion. Miss Kate Vaughan's charm is patent; it is evidently irresistible; and it is a good sign. Taste cannot be in a very depraved condition when with such simplicity and so little effort the art of dancing in its purest form can be so sincerely appreciated. Then, in one moment, she put forth the charm of woe and of waving hands. This is the singular art of this extraordinary lady. She does not beat with her feet; she floats about it. Others perplex themselves with effort; she glides unconsciously. With her it is not a dance, but a dream. And all London goes to see it. That one short spell of "airy fairy" movement is worth all the superhuman effort of a Limido and the wondrous gyrations of a Cecchetti—excellent as they both are. What matter, however, in what form art is displayed on the stage? How infinitely preferable the days of the poetic Kate Vaughan to those of the crude caperings and caracoles of "Wiry Sal." Autres temps, autres mœurs.

A Light-Giving Mexican Insect.

At a recent meeting of the Academy of Sciences at Paris a plate half filled with water, in which were half a dozen insects about an inch in length, which shone like diamonds, although the room was filled with sunshine, was passed around among the members. These insects had been brought from Mexico, where they are to be found in the forests. The scientific name is the pyrophore; and, as none had ever been seen before in Europe, they created quite a sensation. The light resembles that of a glow-worm or fire-fly, although as much more brilliant and intense as an electric-light surpasses a wax taper in its power of illumination. When the light begins to fade it can be made as brilliant as before by shaking the insect or dipping it in water. It is said the Indians of Mexico use them for a light at night, and a few will suffice to illuminate an entire room. When they are walking at night they put one on each foot so that they can be sure of their way, and also that they do not step on any venomous snake or reptile, with which the tropical forests abound. The Mexican ladies buy them of the Indians and inclose them in a transparent bag, which they wear in their hair or at the neck. The effect is very beautiful, especially when several are worn; and, as the Indians sell them for a few cents a dozen, they are within the reach of every fair one. They are fed on sugar-cane, and it well taken care of will live a long time! One placed upon a page will enable it to be read with ease in the darkest night.—Scientific American.

Among the young men of title and fortune who may be said to be coming on for the next London season is Sir Henry Alfred Doughty Tichborne, who will in May next be of age. The youthful Baronet is now in his 20th year, having been born in May, 1866. The necessity of defending his property against the celebrated Tichborne Claimant has entailed upon his trustees the enormous expenditure of £120,000. His estates are in Hampshire, Lincolnshire, Dorsetshire, and Buckinghamshire, and represent between 11,000 and 12,000 acres. There are in addition, London properties, bringing up the gross rental to £28,000 a year.

NOTICE!

To the Occupants of Lots on the "Way Up" Mining Claim Surface.

I have heretofore notified you that I own three-fifths of the surface ground of the Way Up mine. I now notify you that I claim no right to said ground against any one who has been in possession of a lot or lots thereon for five years, as I think the five years statute of limitation commenced to run on September 22, 1880, when the patent to the townsite issued. But, in any event, I would not disturb any one who has improved on a lot for several years; unless, in the case of one who has identified himself with those who fraudulently obtained the townsite title from Alder Randall, mayor, or who now buys or has lately bought of them or given them aid or assistance.

But, as to all of the lots on said Way Up mine now vacant or unoccupied, or that have lately been settled on or bought from the townsite claimants, or claimants under the Way Up mine, I will assert my rights, but will sell at a reasonable price, reserving my right to refuse to sell to any one who, by purchasing lots as aforesaid from other claimants and paying for more than two-fifths thereof has identified himself with the frauds.

N. B. The two-fifths interest in said Way Up surface which I do not own or claim, does not belong to any one in Tombstone, as near as I can find out by the records of the county.
